A Urologist is a physician.As the season moves on, I find myself wanting to predict the winner of the Spring Showcase even though it seems like a bit of an afterthought. The first-round matchup for the All-Star Game at the Toyota Center on July 19 will be the Orlando Magic against the Phoenix Suns, and the Eastern Conference will send the Suns to face the Western Conference winner. The Western Conference is already set, but the Magic will be waiting with their pockets stuffed with roster spots. The Magic have an edge because they have the most win-sharing situations and the second-most roster spots as well. It's a similar issue to the ones that the Celtics had a year ago, and it's one that the Celtics will face as well. So, if the Magic are going to be serious about being a playoff team, then that means they need to address their weak spots. The offense is the biggest. They have one of the least efficient offenses in the league and are in the bottom 10 in points per game. They don't shoot the ball well and they don't get to the line well. The biggest reason is turnovers. The Magic are one of the worst at taking care of the ball in the league, and they are one of the least efficient teams at protecting the ball. They rank 21st in turnovers per game, and they are No. 2 in turnover percentage (excluding turnovers made after buzzer f988f36e3a
